David Kingsley addressed the council regarding trespassing as it relates to vehicles parking in front of his property and others along Second Street during the Christmas season. Last year when he called the police department to remove someone from his property, he was told this was a civil matter and was told to call a towing company however when he called the towing company he was directed to call the police department. Mr. Kingsley is addressing the council tonight to get guidance on how to deal with this matter in the future and asked if the City would require the police and sheriff's department to adhere to the trespassing laws for this year's Christmas Festival and future festivals.

Mayor Williams stated he would take Mr. Kingsley's comments into consideration and will look further into what can and should happen.

The next scheduled City Council meeting will be November 23, 2020.
